To commemorate the Centenary of the Outbreak of the 1st World War, there will be a piece every month about each soldier named on the War Memorial.

PLUNKETT, Arthur William

Gunner 130217. 47th Siege Battery, Royal Garrison Artillery (RGA). Attached 17th Mobile Workshops, Royal Army Ordnance Corps (RAOC).

Born in 1879.

Husband of Minnie Olive Plunkett of Newland Common, Droitwich, Worcestershire. Formerly residing (during the Great War) Sweet Apple, Hastingleigh, Ashford, Kent. Buried in the Cologne Southern Cemetery, Koln, Germany. Grave reference IX.E.11.

Died Thursday 10th April 1919 aged 40 years.

Arthur is recorded as living with his Grandparents, Matthew and Mary Plunkett in Swannington, Norfolk. In 1914 he married Minnie; they had 2 sons, Arthur Charles and Cyril George. Before the outbreak of war Arthur was employed locally as a skilled Carpenter. This might explain why he was posted to an Ordnance Corps mobile workshop. He was obviously a very skilled man who possessed skills much in demand.

Cologne in Germany was entered by the Allies on 6th December 1918.

Arthur's name also appears on the Droitwich Civic War Memorial in Worcestershire, his wife's hometown.

SPRING FAIR 2015

The Evington Community Project held its eleventh Spring Fair on 4th May at the Football Field, Hastingleigh. The weather was looking doubtful just the day before but it turned out to be a lovely day for the third year running. The turnout was terrific and it was great, once again, to see so many people enjoying themselves.

We raised the amazing sum of just over £2,000 after expenses, our best ever total, all of which will be spent on our local community.

The organizing committee would like to thank all of you who helped before, during and after the day and all who came along and supported the event.

We should also like to thank the Hampton Lane Singers and the Bodsham School Merry Making Maypole Dancers for entertaining us and the Art Group for organizing a splendid Art and Craft exhibition in the Evington Hall during the afternoon.

HASTINGLEIGH WITH ELMSTED W.I.

Hastingleigh with Elmsted W.I. met on Thursday the 7th of May at the Tiger Inn in Stowting.

Thirteen members attended our meeting.

Our President, Mrs Argar welcomed us to our 90th Birthday meeting. We discussed various points of business. The team we had put forward for our group quiz came a respectable second place out of ten teams. We fully discussed the resolution for the Annual General Meeting to be held at the Royal Albert Hall in June – 'This meeting calls on HM Government to remove the distinction between nursing care and personal care in the assessment of the needs of individuals, in order to advance health and wellbeing.'

We had a lovely meal in good company. We enjoy our chance to catch up with our friends over a leisurely meal.

We will be having a cream tea in Mrs. Bowes' garden on the afternoon of the 18th of July, and all are welcome. Full details will be given here next month.

Our next meeting in the hall will be on Thursday 4th of June and our speaker will be Sheila Boyd who will be talking to us about Nelson and Emma Hamilton. The meeting starts at 19:30 and any new members would be made most welcome.

THE LORRY WAY DOWN (update to Early May)

After leaving France, we entered Spain in the North and crossed the Country towards the West, the weather wasn't great and so after a couple of stops, notably in the beautiful City of Salamanca, we headed for the North of Portugal. The North-South coast of Portugal and the interior of the Northern part of the Country were a real surprise to us. It's very hilly and quite heavily forested, and stunningly beautiful. There is a long distance path that roughly follows the coast called Rota Vicenta, its approx. 350km long and it seemed where ever we were camped, there was a sign for this path, we used this often for long walks or cycle trips.

Eventually we got to the South coast, and The Algarve region, this was a big change for us, all of a sudden it was very busy built up beach resorts, and not the sort of thing we are interested in. So we decided to head back into Spain, and drive to the City of Seville, this is a city that we have always talked about doing a city break, but never got round to. By coincidence, the couple of days that we were there just happened to be the Spring Festival. It was Mad!!! Horses everywhere, marquees set up for food, drink, and dancing and most people were dressed in traditional costume. It really was a spectacle.

After leaving Seville, we headed for the Spanish Port of Algeciras, to book us and Colonel K on the Ferry to Tangier in Morocco. We found a little man acting as an agent for the ferry companies and he sorted us out a good deal for the crossing (he even gave us a free bottle of wine and a cake for our business). So after spending a night in the nearby Lidl Carpark, we got up early and drove to the Port in the dark to catch the 8.00am ferry. It was complete chaos, trucks, and trailers everywhere, eventually at about 8.30, a man signalled us to drive forward to the huge ferry, but told me I had to reverse on board!! That's not easy when you can't see anything apart from a huge black hole in your mirror.

Once on board, we found the immigration desk and got our passports stamped (this enables us to stay in Morocco for up to 90 days), then settled down before the carnage that we were expecting in Tangier. We couldn't have been proved more wrong, we got approval for the DAF (paperwork and a brief visual inspection), then moved on to have passports checked again, and then before leaving the Port we found the booth selling 3rd party insurance. All very slick, but I'm convinced that as we were the only Western tourists on the ferry, it definitely helped being on the early crossing.

Our first few days in Morocco were spent in the Northern town of Chefchaouen, this is a small town set high up in the Rif Mountains, and was good introduction to Morocco for us and the Truck. Then we drove further South towards the Imperial City of Meknes. Nearby (approx. 25km) is the famous Roman ruins of Volubilis, this place is amazing, so well preserved, with everything open to the elements including immaculate mosaic floors.

From Meknes, we headed west towards the Atlantic Coast and Casablanca. As we got closer to Casablanca, we realized that it is a vast city and very industrial, so we just drove past and again headed south to El-Jadida. This is a sort of a beach resort, but not as we know it in the West.

Currently we are camped in a beautiful forested area about 20km inland from Essaouria, in a few days time we have some friends flying out for the weekend to Essaouria, so we will park up nearer the town then and hopefully be able to walk into the Medina, and to the beach to meet up with them.

Colonel K is really starting to make sense down here, its large living space, and things like our diesel ceramic hob, are starting to come into their own, we can also drive off road down the "pistes" if need be, and of course the ground clearance will really help in the counties to come. Oh and diesel at 63p a litre is nice, with the Colonel only managing approx. 12mpg.

WYE PATIENT PARTICIPATION GROUP LIVING WITH LONG TERM CONDITIONS

15 million people live with long term health conditions in England. We all know people who are bravely coping with illnesses such as diabetes, cancer, respiratory, neurological or mental health problems which have a profound effect on every day of their lives and the lives of their families and carers.

Long term conditions account for half of GP appointments and 70% of hospital bed days. They represent a large part of the cost pressures the NHS is facing so the infrastructure which underpins their treatment and support needs to be secure. The main components of that infra-structure are prevention and early diagnosis; supported self-management; emotional and practical support; properly coordinated care between health and social care services; and patient engagement in decisions about their care.

Individuals experience conditions differently and many long term conditions such as depression are invisible and often isolating for the sufferer. It can be bewildering to access the specific information and services which will enable patients to make the informed treatment choice which is appropriate for them and their family. The links between health and social care are obscure and the route map to services unclear or difficult to negotiate.

One of the choices patients truly value is having a say about where they are treated or cared for. It is sad that although 73% of people with cancer would prefer to die at home, only 30% are able to do this. 100 people a day die in hospital against their wishes.

Building care around the expressed needs and wishes of patients is not a luxury - it can be effective for patients, helpful for their families and cost effective in terms of the availability of scarce resources. 80% of amputations resulting from diabetes could be avoided with the right care and support.

Patient participation in formulating a clear care plan understood by all health and social care professionals is particularly important in alleviating the sense of powerlessness felt by many with long term conditions. Accurate information and proper consultation about treatment choices are essential components of truly patient-centred care. It can make the difference between being a passive recipient of health and social care services and regaining the ability to be an active agent in your own life.

GODINTON HOUSE & GARDENS

As spring moves into summer the gardens at Godinton House have a breath-taking show. The entrance colonnade of the Italian Garden is covered in a fabulous, scented waterfall of Japanese wisteria (Wisteria floribunda 'Multijuga'). The collection of over 200 Bearded and Siberian Irises in the Walled Garden are also putting on their flamboyant show this month making a bright patchwork of colour against the mellow brick walls, a sight not to be missed!

Just for information we are now selling tickets for our open air events and still have a few places on the Four Season in the Garden workshop with Fiona.
